

Soft Coal Fields Again Enveloped By Strike Threat

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 11.—A powder keg atmosphere hung over the nation's coal fields today as government fines on miners for their last walkout brought threats of a new strike.

War labor board coolness toward a wage increase agreement between the United Mine workers and a Pennsylvania group of operators contributed also to the tenseness of the situation.

Interior Secretary Ickes, federal operator of the mines since May 1, ordered the fines yesterday. They follow terms of the old U. M. W. contract, $1 a day for each miner for each day he is off the job without a valid reason. In this case, the men were away five days. The money goes to charity.

Ickes pointed out that the government ordered the old contract continued when negotiations were deadlocked over U. M. W. President John L. Lewis' demands for $2 a day pay boosts. The union contended through a number of spokesmen, however, that the fines were illegal because the contract had expired.

Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky union officials warned that the government fines would be "resented" by the men. Several came out flatly with a prediction of another walkout, and Lewis summed up his opinion of Ickes' order in these words:

"An unwarranted, illegal act which takes nearly $3,000,000 worth of food from the fingers and mouths of the mining camps—a brutal application of economic sanctions against free citizens—another step toward political tyranny in America."

The men are working under a truce that expires midnight June 20. Lewis ordered them back last Monday with that stipulation.

Meantime Lewis and the Appalachian joint wage conference failed to conclude an agreement on the basic demand—pay for portage to and from the underground travel. They said in simultaneous statements that their conversations were "fervid."

Lewis and the central Pennsylvania producers association then disclosed a separate settlement, calling for a $1.30 a day increase for the underground travel. The association withdrew from the Appalachian conference.

The war labor board took up this matter yesterday and by its questioning indicated that a majority of the members were not satisfied with the terms. Without WLB approval the agreement would be invalid.

BELLAIRE, June 11.—Adolph Pacifico, vice president of United Mine Workers' district 6, today challenged the right of Interior secretary Harold Ickes, federal mine boss, to order penalties against unionists participating in the June 1-5 work stoppage.

Ickes said in Washington that fines of $1 for each day miners were off the job without sufficient cause would be deducted from their next pay checks under terms of their old contract, which he ordered extended during union-operator negotiations for a new agreement.

"I was surprised at Ickes' action," said Pacifico in a prepared statement. "Ickes claimed he had no authority to negotiate a contract. If he is operating the mines does not give him authority to negotiate a contract, how can he fine the miners $2,500,000?"

REDMELOVICH GETS PRISON SENTENCE

Redmelovich shot Ulrich during an argument over rent money at the Raymond Porter home on Aetna st., police said.

PAY GO TAX BILL SIGNED

Treasury Launches Plans To Start Wage Deductions Next Month

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The machinery for collecting 20 per cent—after exemptions—from the wages and salaries of all income tax payers beginning next month was set in motion today by the treasury.

Immediately after President Roosevelt signed the pay-as-you-go tax bill, treasury orders were flashed to internal revenue collectors throughout the country releasing millions of forms and instruction sheets for employers, who become the government's collection agents.

Although the legislation becomes effective July 1, its with-holding provisions will not be felt by the majority of taxpayers until July 8 or later—July 10 for most people on a weekly wage basis.

This is because of a provision applying the 20 per cent with-holding levy to payroll periods which begin on or after July 1. Thus the first weekly payroll period in July from which deductions could be made would end on July 8.

New Levies Proposed

The treasury is reported to have prepared a comprehensive program of new levies to meet Mr. Roosevelt's request for an additional $16,000,000,000 in taxes and savings to help finance the war.

The treasury proposals, said to have been presented to James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, include suggestions for a spending tax, new excise levies and higher individual and corporation income taxes.

Gestapo Tightens Its Grip As Morale of Germans Sags

By EDWIN SHANKE

STOCKHOLM, June 11.—Heinrich Himmler's police are tightening their grip on Germany because of sagging morale, reliable reports coming out of Germany indicated today, and for this reason keen observers here believe a crack-up in Germany is unlikely until absolute military collapse also is at hand.

Supplementing the stories that leak out of Germany is the plain fact that Nazi leaders and party orators are stumping the country, setting up a strange scene of appeals for faith in victory and threats that "weak" Germans will be purged.

Behind this screen the Gestapo head was at work with ruthless efficiency pointing out the oratory of Paul Joseph Goebbels and labor front leader, Robert Ley; Josef Wagner, the gauleiter for Alsace, and Erich Koch, the Nazi commissioner.

Sources here said "Himmler's Gestapo is not applying any new methods in combating discontent, unrest and activities endangering the war effort but is acting on a much wider scale."

"Where it used to crack down on tens or hundreds, now it is striking at thousands," they said. "These same sources said, too, that the Gestapo has its worries: For the first time signs of organized opposition to the Nazis, in Austria for example, are appearing; for the first time, also, the arming of such opposition is no problem. Three kilograms of coffee (about 6½ pounds) is worth a machine-gun in a country pinched for food, such as is Germany."

Agents Ambushed
"It is even easier in occupied lands," the source added. "Moreover, the Nazi enemies are shooting down Gestapo agents with increasing frequency. Garbed as SS men, they are even known to have invaded Gestapo offices."

In Austria, where the morale is said to be especially low, more than 140 Austrians were reported executed by the SS since November for underground anti-Nazi activities.

Sergt. Taylor, who enlisted in the service three years ago, received his training at Fort Douglas, Utah. The Salem youth was reported missing soon after the fall of Corregidor. His parents feared that he had perished during the Corregidor battle.

Pantelleria Is Forced To Surrender After Heavy Allied Blows

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Surrender of the Italian island fortress of Pantelleria under bombardment from air and sea represents first blood for the Allies in their all-out aerial offensive against the Axis.

This strong point in the Mediterranean bottle-neck between Sicily and the African mainland literally has been blasted into submission. Troops are going ashore without suffering the terrible losses in men and material which would inevitably have attended invasion without such preparation.

It now remains to be seen whether this first triumph really represents the efficacy of this method of attack. Today's success certainly should boost the stock of British Prime Minister Churchill's remark recently before the joint session of Congress that idea of bombing the Axis into submission was worth trying anyway.

The submission of Pantelleria removes a grave menace to Allied shipping from the narrow channel which the Allies must control for further operations in the Mediterranean. This volcanic island, which Mussolini fortified heavily a few years ago, is small in size but big in importance.

Sicily, Sardinia Next?

It provides a stepping stone in the direction of the Italian mainland. As things have been going, one would expect to see bombing of the great islands of Sicily and Sardinia stepped up now. They may be the next objectives.

Naturally everybody is looking across the islands toward Italy. Secretary of State Cordell Hull may have been speaking with prophetic voice when he referred yesterday to "the timely end to which he (Mussolini) is rapidly approaching."

Actually, while we want to see Italy in Allied hands as soon as possible, it already is so battered in morale that it's far from threat it used to be. From the standpoint of security, the Allies needn't rush invasion of the Italian mainland if they don't want to. Mussolini's country has become a pain in the neck to Hitler, and the United Nations won't find it an undiluted blessing either.

The words "too late" are running through beleaguered Italy like the refrain of a theme song. Radio commentators are preparing the public for the storm whose black clouds are billowing across the Mediterranean towards the Roman peninsula.

Latest to go on the air with prophetic gloom is Camillo Pellizz, national councillor who says that "there is a present general state of confusion which... cannot last long." The war has entered its second stage, he explains, and many issues relied upon at the outset it looked as though the war would be confined to Europe, but it became a world conflict.

The councilor doesn't amplify that last remark about a world conflict, but it doesn't take much mind reading to figure out that he is regretting America's participation.

Signs Ultimatum

ACCORDING to Rome radio, an ultimatum to surrender, addressed to the Axis forces on Pantelleria Island, was signed by Lt. Gen. C. A. Spaatz, U.S.A., commander of the Allied Northwest African Air Force. The ultimatum was dropped by Allied airmen. (International)

Describe Allied Attack

The fall of Pantelleria—three years and one day after Italy entered the war—was announced in a special communique.

The climactic raids on Pantelleria yesterday and last night were described here as the greatest Allied air attack of the war in point of bomb tonnage dropped on a target of similar size.

The island, 32 square miles in area and formed by a long dead volcano, lies 45 miles east of Cap Bon, Tunisia, about 60 miles by air south of Sicily and 220 miles by air from the toe of the Italian boot.

The special headquarters communique said: "The island of Pantelleria today surrendered and is being occupied by Allied forces."

"This surrender is the result of a series of continuous and intense air bombardment supported by naval bombardment. Two previous offers (summons) to surrender made to the commander were ignored."

A white flag was displayed on hill 74 in the northern part of the island. It was announced early this morning. This information was conveyed immediately to the commander of the Allied forces on the African mainland and steps toward occupying the island were begun immediately.

Many hundreds of Allied planes darkened the sky yesterday. Thirty-seven enemy fighters were shot down in combat during the attack and two others were destroyed over the Tyrrhenian sea, north of Sicily. From all operations, six Allied aircraft failed to return.

This was the first time in the Mediterranean that air power alone had knocked out the island.

CLASS OF '43 IS GRADUATED

Diplomas Awarded to 174 Seniors at Salem High Commencement

Diplomas were presented to 174 Seniors, academically attired in dark blue and white caps and gowns, at commencement exercises Thursday evening in the High school auditorium. The boys wore blue outfits and the girls white.

Parents and relatives of the graduates occupied most of the auditorium seats. Tonight members of the class will be guests of the Salem High School Alumni association at the group's annual banquet and dance in the Masonic temple.

A. E. Beaudry, vice president of the board of education, presented a diploma to Herbert Wilker, president of the class, and Wilker, in turn, presented the graduating class.

The theme, "The Class of 1943 Looks Ahead," was stressed in the orations given by four class members, Mary Byers, Emma Bauman, Elizabeth Benedetti and Herbert Hansell.

Miss Byers spoke on "The Students' Changing Viewpoint During 1943." Miss Bauman talked on the subject "Why Are We Fighting?" "Education In War Time" was the topic of Miss Benedetti's address, while Herbert Hansell spoke on "Thus Be It Ever."

Musical on the program included processional by the High school orchestra; French horn solo, "Concerto," by Mabel Hostetter; oboe solo, "The Girl With the Flaxen Hair," by Gene McArthur; alto clarinet solo, "Scene and Air," Dorothy Hald.

Invocation and benediction were given by Rev. C. F. Evans and Rev. George D. Keister, respectively. School closed officially today when report cards were distributed at the various buildings.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 11—Pantelleria surrendered unconditionally at 11:40 a. m. (5:40 a. m. Eastern War time) today after the most concentrated Allied aerial attack of the war and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's ground forces swarmed ashore from fleet-backed assault craft 20 minutes later.

It was officially announced that the landing parties met slight resistance due to the fact that word of the commander's surrender had not reached all points of the island, but all objectives were reached by 12:22 p. m.

A white flag posted on Sema-phore hill, 2,000 yards from the explosive-damaged harbor of Pantelleria, signaled Italy's loss of that fortified island in the Sicilian straits and the first rupture in the ring of Mediterranean outposts intended to guard southern Europe from invasion.

FDR Asks Italians To Get Out of War

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 11.—President Roosevelt declared today that the surrender of Pantelleria was very good news and at the same time he appealed indirectly but strongly to Italy to get out of the war.

It is the hope and intention of the United Nations, Mr. Roosevelt said, that Italy be restored to nationhood and take her place as a respected member of the European family of nations.

The chief executive made it obvious that he considered Mussolini and his aides responsible for the position of Italy in the war, rather than the Italian people.

Mussolini's whole policy was illustrated, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, by his declaration of war against France and Britain.

Harking back to the day three years ago when Italy took this step, the President recalled that he had termed it then a stab in the back.

The Allies, he said, have no choice but to pursue the war against Italy and Mussolini until they have achieved complete victory.

ISLAND BY ISLAND

Without air power to protect it, the Italian navy would meet the fate of the Repulse and Prince of Wales. Yet, if the Italian navy does not spend itself in an attempt to keep the Allies from stepping toward Italy's peninsular toe island by island, it has betrayed its duty. Pantellaria will go first, then Sicily, then Italy itself.

This is the climax for which Italy's war makers charged the people to be ready. This is the glorious moment of trial when nations supposedly are tested by fire and made stronger than before. This, in the cockeyed philosophy of the Fascists and Nazis, should be Italy's shining hour.

But Italy, it seems, may have had different ideas about the matter all the time. Italy is not Mussolini and his muscle-inners at all, but a nation that has been left stranded in a most unhappy position in a sea that the enemy now dominates.

AGAIN?

The next strike deadline in the coal industry is June 20. With union spokesmen and operators apparently as far apart as ever, it is beginning to look as though America's fighting men abroad might have to take another jolt in their morale on the eve of invasion.

The general public long ago ceased to understand the issue in the coal industry. All it can see clearly is that a rotten condition on the home front has broken out twice in national disgrace and may break out again. For three months, in the midst of a war, private citizens have been permitted to hold the United States by the throat. Twice, they have started to strangle it, and the third time now seems only a matter of days.

Meanwhile the government has taken over the mines, for reasons unknown. Coal production has been stopped twice since the change and may be closed again because the miners and the operators, both theoretically working for the government, can't agree. Old-fashioned as it sounds in the tenth year of the New Era to talk about the dignity of government, it's high time the highest authority in the government began to pay some attention to the remnants of dignity remaining after over-indulgence in appeasement.

BUT OHIOANS WILL COME THROUGH

If Ohio and other states lying inland are put on shorter gas rations to ease the fuel crisis in the east, the lamentations will be loud and long.

It will be protested that the move represents nothing but the caprice of federal officials; that the inconvenience and suffering caused thereby are the only certain results; that gasoline is not being saved because there is too much gasoline already; that someone should be impeached; that this is the kind of monkey business that is hurting the United States more than the war itself; and that the rations, whatever they turn out to be, aren't even enough to keep a non-essential car in good mechanical condition.

There probably will be a few additions to this list, growing out of local circumstances, but the list covers the main points—the same ones that have been hammered hard ever since the men charged with responsibility for winning the war began to do what was necessary to keep the gasoline flowing to Allied forces. It's an old refrain now, and Ohioans will put their heads into it, but meanwhile they will do whatever needs to be done. By this time, though, every knowledgeable official probably understands that the volume of complaint has relatively little to do with the degree of compliance.

GAS CLOUDS

This government's plainly announced intention of using chemical warfare against its enemies, if they use it first, is the military policy of the United Nations.

It will not alter the fundamental consideration of all chemical warfare, which is that it will be resorted to in any given case when it can be used to clear advantage. The British were ready to use it against the Germans earlier in the war when invasion of British seemed imminent. It may be assumed the Germans now are ready to use it in the attempt to prevent invasion of the continent. Gas has been tried in China and apparently in Russia. It is unlikely the war will end without its full employment.

The fact that Mr. Roosevelt announced the intention to retaliate before the invasion campaign has begun indicates the Allies have evidence that the Germans are ready to begin chemical warfare. With such evidence in their possession, the Allies will not wait for the deed before preparing their counter-attack. They will be ready to retaliate from scratch. That is their best chance of forestalling the beginning of chemical warfare.

In their plans, planes undoubtedly are extremely important. Using gas bombs, instead of the ordinary kind, the trained bombardiers of the Allied air arm will give German strategists a lot to think about as they ponder the use of the chemical warfare they introduced in World War I with results more favorable in the long run to the Allies than to the Central Powers. Germany probably will try gas again, however, for the same reason it is trying again to conquer the world—the idea still appeals to the German military mind.

ROADS TO SOMEWHERE

Ten billion dollars could be spent to good advantage on public highways immediately following the war, in the opinion of a spokesman for the American Association of State Highway Officials, representing state highway departments and the federal public roads administration. This is the kind of post-war planning a taxpayer can get his teeth into and understand.

The association estimates that every billion spent in highway rehabilitation and construction would furnish a year's direct employment to 750,000 persons, reminiscent of the estimates formerly heard in connection with highway work for unemployment relief. There is an important difference now, however.

The war has disclosed the necessity for better highway facilities than existed when the national defense effort began in 1940. A vast deal of highway work has had to be done under unfavorable circumstances that could have been done before under favorable circumstances. While 10 billion dollars might be too much to spend even in behalf of the automobile industry that lays the national golden eggs, it is useful as a measure of the tremendous possibilities still unrealized in construction of proper roads for the age of transportation.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, June 12

A DAY of extraordinary and unpredictable events and sudden visitations is forecast from a long chain of unusual planetary configurations. Intense and dynamic vibrations reign and may precipitate exceptional and bewildering situations or predicaments. This may be in the realm of the romantic, mystical or subjective rather than the world of commonplace occurrences. It is a day to expect the unexpected, especially in emotional crises.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which the unsought, the unlooked for, the unprecedented and unpredictable may be fulfilled with spectacular and breathtaking crises and culminations. The extraordinary, the unorthodox and dramatic are probable, affecting with far reaching influence the future and its destinies. Prospects should be attacked with ingenuity and confidence.

A child born on this day should be endowed with many and diverse traits, abilities and aspirations of conspicuous importance in attaining a progressive, prosperous and happy life, of romance and achievement.

Medical science may be finding ways of putting off death, but nobody's been able to do anything about taxes—aid stickers on the windshield of their autos.

One of the commonest pieces of advice is not to let worries worry us. That's all right, if we can do it.

The good old days were the days when we planned it that way!

INVALIDS' DIETS STRESSED

New Food Ration Order Proves Helpful

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE FOOD rationing boards have received so many applications of a certain sort that the Office of Price Administration under date of Feb. 9, 1943, issued ration order No. 13.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

which is concerned with diets for invalids. This has to do with consumers who need more processed foods because of illness.

Any consumer whose health requires that he have more processed foods than he can get with his present war ration book No. 2 may apply for additional points. The application must be made on OPA form R-15 by the consumer himself, or by someone acting for him, either in person or by mail. The application can be made to the board only for the place where the consumer lives himself, submitting with the application a written statement from a licensed physician or surgeon showing why he must have more processed foods and why he cannot use unrationed foods instead.

The board, after it decides that the application is bona fide and proper and the applicant's health depends on using processed foods exceeding the amount his ration book allows, can issue to the applicant the number of points necessary to get the additional foods he needs.

Help for Invalids

This loosening of restrictions will help many invalids or semi-invalids, particularly those with digestive disturbances—ulcer of the stomach or duodenum, acid dyspepsia, some cases of gallstones and those with forms of intestinal indigestion. For these, processed, pureed and soft foods are necessary and it is only proper and fair that restrictions on their ability to obtain such foods should be lifted.

Thanks to the efforts of the Committee on Food Rationing of the New York Diabetes association, invalids with diabetes are also receiving special consideration. Suggestions to diabetics are as follows:

Voluntary surrendering of sugar ration cards should be the first step towards the registration of diabetics; in place of sugar rations, the diabetic patient should receive extra ration cards for protein foods, especially meat, milk and butter, and fresh or canned vegetables and fruits.

The important problem is to provide sufficient fresh and canned fruits and vegetables—especially green vegetables to provide sufficient bulk—to compensate for the concentrated foods usually predominating in the diet of the diabetic. It is doubtful whether there exists in the diabetic a need for cream above that of the general population; hence, if sufficient milk is available, it will be unnecessary to make special provision for cream. Oleomargarine and other fats may replace butter to the same extent advocated for normal individuals.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

P. I. M.: Please comment on a statement I saw recently in the paper that it is unhealthful to have plants in the sick room.

Answer: I know of no special reason that plants are unhealthful in the sick room except in the case of certain plants, such as primrose, to which many people are sensitive—so much so that they produce allergic reactions. Plants are certainly good for the psychology of a convalescent patient and they take one side of the respiratory cycle of nature which states that animals breathe out carbon dioxide and use oxygen and that plants breathe out oxygen and utilize carbon dioxide. Therefore, plants and animals go together. Of course, if the patient is pretty sick and the plants have a heavy odor, they had best be removed, but this is merely common sense.

H. C.: How is a person affected who has a dilated esophagus? Is there any cure for a person suffering from this condition?

Answer: Dilated esophagus is usually the result of an obstruction which is in the entrance to the stomach. The symptoms are fullness after eating, with regurgitation of food into the mouth and occasionally vomiting. Cure is accomplished by dilating the obstruction.

Farm Labor 'Freeze Order' Explanation Is Received

An interpretation of the recent manpower "freeze order" as it applied to farm labor has just been received by County Agent Floyd Lower at Lisbon. An employer may not employ a farm worker without a statement of availability issued by his former employer or by the War Manpower commission. In other words farm workers cannot be employed in industry if needed on the farm.

The interpretation states that farm workers include high school boys who live and work upon the farm morning and evening and during vacation. Farm workers may go from one farm to another but not to other industries without statements of availability.

Grim Determination Marks Men At Navy Air Schools

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON.—I have just completed a tour of the Navy's major aviation training centers in the East and it all adds up to bad news for certain parties named Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito.

Trouble, unshirked trouble, is being prepared for them on an assembly line basis at these schools for Navy airmen.

There is no five-day, 40-hour week in the Navy's pilot production schedule. It's from sunup to well past sundown for seven days a week for these tens of thousands of young men who are grimly determined to shatter the aspirations of the Axis triumvirate.

The tour covered the Navy's pre-flight school at North Carolina university, Chapel Hill, N. C., the Link Trainer instructors' school at the Atlanta Naval Aviation base, the Naval Air Training Center at Pensacola, Fla., and the Air Operational Training Center at Jacksonville, Fla.

I saw raw, untrained young men from the farms, factories and offices being fed in at one end of the vast assembly line. And I saw the same kind of young men emerging from the other end, thoroughly skilled, tough fighting men imbued with the urge and the know-how to destroy America's enemies.

Takes Guts and Stamina

It takes both guts and physical stamina to master the modern high-powered fighting plane. The Navy realized this early in the war and set up a series of pre-flight schools to develop these initial essentials.

And this pre-flight program, as I saw it at Chapel Hill, is no strength-through-joy movement. It's a grim, tough business. Weaklings, morally and physically, can't take it; they're not wanted. Surprisingly, "wash-outs" are few.

At Chapel Hill, the emphasis is on developing aggressiveness. The physical toughening takes place in the course of this program to inculcate the "killer" instinct.

"We teach them to get in and kill," was the way Comdr. John P. Haff, skipper of the school, summed it up.

Athletics, the rough-and-tumble bodily contact kind, consumes 25 hours of each of the 11 weeks' program at the school. There is none of the emphasis on the niceties of the game, or on sportsmanship.

In some of the contests I witnessed I noticed a number of palpable fouls.

"We're interested only in teaching them to go out and win," explained one officer, a former college athletic coach who would have screamed to high heaven if he had witnessed the same acts back in his civilian days.

Like a Five-Ring Circus

The campus of the pre-flight school resembles a five-ring circus. In a row of outdoor boxing rings I saw teams of young men slugging it out. Not all of them were skillful but each of them showed the ultimate in scrappiness. Hundreds of other youths were dog-trotting around a tough cross-country course with the meaneast kind of obstacles. Dozens of others were squirming, sweating on wrestling mats, while still others were playing-and-playing hard-at soccer and push-ball.

Down in the basement of a huge gymnasium, a group of cadets was receiving instruction in hand-to-hand combat from Lieut. Ed Don George, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion. He was teaching them how to break an arm or leg with a twist of the wrist, gouge out eyes and to shatter the windpipe by the deft use of fingers.

In the swimming pool, Ensign Peter Fick, once a sprint swim champion, was teaching cadets how to save themselves and others in the water. Each of the cadets had to take a turn in a simulated airplane cockpit, into which they were strapped and submerged. Then they had to release themselves and swim to safety. It was all with an eye to future possibilities.

Of course, considerable attention is paid to mathematics and military subjects at the pre-flight school. But it's all-out on the toughening-up side of the program.

No flight instruction is given at the pre-flight school. The cadets get that next when they move on to primary training centers.

SENATE ASSURES FUNDS FOR FSA

Approves Program Despite House Action Abolishing Agency

WASHINGTON, June 11. — The senate has decided the Farm Security administration—beleaguered by caustic criticism in Congress—should exist, despite house action which would have abolished it for lack of funds.

Amendments provided $160,000,000 for the FSA were voted last night but this agreement was only a stepping stone in consideration of the entire measure appropriations $820,000,000 for farm purposes.
Pending today—the fifth day of the bill's consideration—were amendments to authorize the Rural Electrification administration to borrow $30,000,000 to finance loans to cooperatives and others on which fights were expected.

First on the list was a proposal designed to prevent the regional agricultural credit corporation from making loans to facilitate increased production of farm crops.
Senator Taft (R-Ohio) served notice he wanted to speak on another committee proposal to make $59,000,000 of agricultural funds available for school lunch and milk programs.

in the press during May. There were 78 sentences for war crimes such as talking disparagingly about soldiers of the Nazi party, for spreading rumors of black marketing, and for plundering in blackouts.

The charges mainly brought prison terms of from five to 15 years, but there were 23 death sentences. The Nazi policy has been to publish only a few of such cases to serve as a frightening example.

General dissatisfaction and restlessness also were seen in the character of court convictions recorded for example, the Germans now commonly greet one another with a "heil," dropping the "Hitler," or have reverted to the old salutation "Gruess Gott"—a simple, colloquial "good day" translated out of the words for greeting and for God.

In Munich, an equestrian statue of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg was placarded with a sign one day which read, translated: "Come down, proud rider, your corporal doesn't know how to continue."

The corporal, of course, is Hitler. Goebbels is said to have received as many as 40 highly critical "crank" letters a day, but Hitler seldom has been publicly attacked.

Now, however, people were reported beginning to talk a bit more openly about the Fuehrer and even the SS organ, Das Schwarze Korps, recently attempted to apologize for him by declaring its readers should not expect him to be infallible.

The streets are full of war invalids, adding to the general sense of depression. Vienna especially is referred to as a city of war hospitals, and with the wounded said to dominate the streets the once light-hearted capital's cafe life is subdued, with wine a scarcity.

Italian Stronghold Surrenders After Heavy Allied Attack

enemy and it forced the surrender of an important outpost without landing of a single ground soldier.

The capitulation of Pantelleria's dazed and battered garrison came little more than seven months after AEF landing barges grounded on the beaches of French Morocco and Algeria.

The movement toward the continent gave added point to a declaration by Prime Minister Churchill in the British house of commons Tuesday: "It is evident that amphibious operations of a peculiar complexity and hazard on a large scale are approaching."

(The Italian high command was silent on its loss. The regular Italian communique, broadcast from Rome and recorded by the Associated Press about 30 minutes before Pantelleria yielded, said the garrison, "although hammered by the pounding of about 1,000 enemy planes, again made no reply to a further request of surrender." Later broadcasts repeated that announcement.)

CHINESE ATTACK JAPS AT ICHANG

Troops Make Successful Stabs At Enemy In River Front Area

(By Associated Press)

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's triumphant armies were officially credited today with new successes in fighting along the upper Yangtze river front as Chinese troops stormed and captured a town northeast of the main Japanese base of Ichang.

Dispatches said the Chinese occupied Wangchichang after an all-night battle in which 300 Japanese troops were killed.

Other Chinese columns broke into Yingshan, an important Japanese stronghold 90 miles northwest of Hankow, inflicting heavy casualties in street fighting.

In the Southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's bombers dropped 40 tons of explosives among more than 100 Japanese planes in a four-wave attack on the enemy base at Rabaul, New Britain, setting 19 fires visible for 50 miles.

On the Burma front, RAF raiders pounded the Japanese army headquarters at Kalewa with bombs and machine-gun fire, attacked motor transport and river shipping, and bombed enemy strongholds at Rathedaung and Butthedaung.

Walkout Is Ended At Rubber Plant

(By Associated Press)

AKRON, June 11.—Tire production approached normal levels at the General Tire & Rubber Co. today as 35 bead room employees ended a work stoppage protesting transfers of men to other jobs and hiring of women replacements.

The bead room workers, members of the CIO United Rubber Workers union, returned to their jobs at 6 a. m. under an agreement whereby the company will not make additional transfers or replacements pending negotiations, conciliator Paul M. Fuller reported.

A company spokesman who preferred anonymity said the walkout cut tire building activities in half on yesterday's second shift and to one-third normal last night. He said a backlog of beads must be built up before the company could resume full production, expected late today.

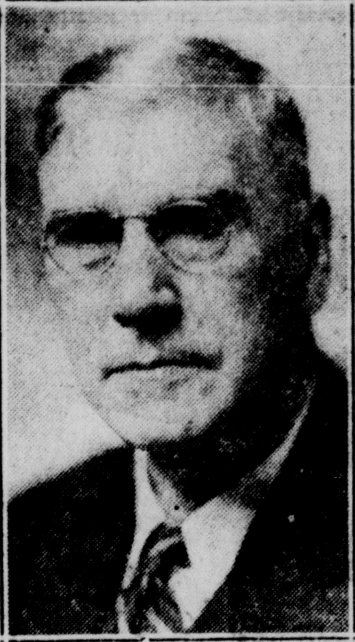

More than 300 other employees were made idle by the stoppage, which started Wednesday and continued yesterday as subsequent shifts failed to report, this spokesman said.

JAPS IN ARIZONA SAW U. S. DEFEAT

Still Awaiting Arrival of Emperor's Troops, Dies Committee Hears

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—Japanese evacuees looked for a speedy defeat of the United States, and cached stolen food in the desert for expected paratroopers and other invasion forces, a former official of the Poston, Ariz., relocation center told the Dies congressional subcommittee.

The testimony was included in a transcript of a secret session held by the committee here May 26 at which Harold H. Townsend, former chief supply and transportation officer at the Poston camp, was the witness.

Townsend testified he had been told at least a score of times by occupants of the camp that "they would have our country before long."

"In other words," he added, "that camp is 100 per cent of the idea that Japan will have the United States in a few months.... they are very frank about it."

"There are over 1,000 Japanese soldiers and Japanese officers in that camp," Townsend declared. "If you ask them, 'were you fellows organizing on the west coast?' they will say, 'yes, we had our program all set up.' I asked them, 'what were you going to do?' and the answer was, 'as soon as our soldiers come over, we are going to help them.'"

The Japanese, he testified, are "drilling over there almost daily in military tactics, right under our noses in that camp."

Through the operation of a "thieving ring" in the camp, Townsend said, approximately $500 worth of supplies was stolen daily, either from trucks transporting it from the rail head at Parker, Ariz., and the camp, or from the camp warehouse.

"The information that was furnished me by certain friendly groups was that they had placed different types of emergency food in secret cellars under the mess halls for the invasion armies and parachute troops," the witness said.

Nazis Didn't Know Churchill Was Near

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, June 11.—If German communiques announced a month ago that German troops had surrounded Prime Minister Churchill, Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell and about 20 other high ranking British officials, they technically would have been true.

Churchill's ship, carrying him to the United States to attend the Washington conference with President Roosevelt, also had on board nearly 400 German prisoners of war—some of them high ranking officers, captured by Allied forces during fighting in North Africa. News of the fact Churchill had travelled in the same ship with German prisoners was withheld by censorship here until today.

Officers on the ship that carried the British prime minister said that so closely was he guarded that they failed to catch but a glimpse of him during the entire Atlantic crossing. Even when Churchill made his frequent strolls around the bridge officers could do no more than get a fleeting glance of the cigar-puffing statesman.

OAKLAND, Calif.—Father Hubbard, the Greek priest, who knows Alaska and the Aleutians like a book, says there is another reason, apparently being entirely overlooked, why the Japanese on Kiska and Attu islands should be thrown into the sea immediately. He says if they remain there much longer they will have acquired the right to apply for citizenship in the United States.

New Planes Exceed Hopes Of American Technicians

(By United Press)
AT A SOUTH PACIFIC BASE—Although there still are some "bugs" in United States planes, our aircraft are meeting all wartime mechanical expectations, three naval officials agreed today.

They disclosed that major overhaul facilities, previously far removed from the combat areas, have been installed at advanced bases in the South Pacific.

The three, Capt. N. A. Dralim of Vincennes, Ind.; Lieut. Comdr. Joseph E. Dodson of Waco, Tex., and Lieut. Comdr. S. B. Perreault of Kansas City, Kan., said their crews soon would be overhauling engines of dive-bombers, fighters, and flying boats at a rate equal to any schedule maintained at naval bases in the United States.

"The new type airplanes and engines are coming up to all our expectations, and, in fact, have exceeded them in many instances," said Dodson, a specialist who had postgraduate training at Massachusetts Institute of Technology after seven years of sea duty.

Wildcats Kept Flying
"There are some bugs, of course, but you have to understand that we expect more operational failures than in peacetime."

"During the early stages of the Guadalcanal campaign, our air field there was surrounded by the Japs and was under daily bombardment. The Grumman Wildcat demonstrated its worth, and we were able to get a record number into the air."

"But," continued Dodson, "the usual methods of shipment for engines and spare parts wouldn't work. We had to fly them into the area. Hundreds of planes were fed into the Solomons before a single one got out for overhaul. This developed a serious problem."

"Old engines and parts were thrown onto a junk pile and the crews used whatever they had. Sometimes they made one good plane out of two wrecked ones. They worked mostly at night, with no lighting, diving into fox holes many times as they did their jobs."

1,000 at Repair Base
Dralim explained that the decision to overhaul engines near the front was prompted by the vast distances involved in shipping them to and from the United States.

Rear Admiral Osborne B. Hard-

iron, former skipper of an aircraft carrier, commands operations at this base and at several others in the area. Fourteen shops, six supply buildings, ramps, and housing and mess facilities for nearly 1,000 men comprise the largest of the repair bases under his jurisdiction.

These advanced units will take care of at least 75 per cent of the needs of this zone, thereby getting the planes back into the air faster than ever.

A large-scale training program for mechanics has been underway at San Diego, Calif., and other centers, fitting men into specialized overhaul jobs in the Pacific.

"The way we have things organized," remarked Perreault, "the mechanics come out, drop their baggage, and go right to work. It's a pleasure to see them do so much at times with so little."

SOLDIERS TAUGHT TRAFFIC CONTROL

Military Police Aim To Use Their Knowledge In Berlin, Tokyo

(By Associated Press)
DENVER, June 11.—Husky, intent young soldiers are learning from Denver traffic cops lessons they hope soon to put to practical use in Tokyo or Berlin.

The trainees are military policemen. Their instructors are patrolmen seasoned in the tasks of keeping traffic flowing smoothly.

There was some amazement on the civilian side when these big army fellows, looking a little formidable in full field uniform, first appeared at busy intersections.

Then came the explanation: Capt. P. Dudley, commander of a military police company, conceived the idea of adding practical experience to the academic traffic training which MPs were receiving at nearby Camp George West.

He went to Capt. Frank Campbell, in charge of Denver police traffic, and a program was promptly worked out.

"We can't compliment the Denver police too much for their cooperation," says brisk-talking Capt. Dudley.

Observe Regulars
Details of MPs were assigned to midtown "observation post" intersections, where they watched veteran patrolmen in action. One of them was Dominic Crow, whose sharp but friendly "take a ride, folks," chatter is an effective check against poky pedestrians. At some intersections, traffic lights were turned off and the MPs left more or less on their own.

They handled things well from the start. Civilians cooperated quickly. Maybe the full field gear of the MPs helped—they go on duty equipped with revolvers, gas masks, helmets and leggings.

Capt. Dudley says the men will be "terribly disappointed" if they don't get an opportunity soon to use their training in Tokyo, Berlin or Rome.

"They're learning how to run traffic in Denver so they will be able to stand at busy street intersections when they get overseas and guide vehicular and pedestrian traffic in any situation," he adds.

Capt. Dudley believes Denver is the only place where cooperation of local police is being utilized for giving "systematically" all the basic training in traffic direction, pedestrian and motor vehicular.

He said all the 700 men in the military police battalion will receive some of the practical training, in addition to their regular traffic school work.

The battalion personnel comes chiefly from Ohio, Missouri, Iowa and Colorado, with some from Indiana, Kansas and Nebraska.

Capt. Dudley says the project is "the only real way to learn the many problems connected with control of traffic. You can't learn it out of a textbook. You've got to get out there and do it."

Air Freight Boom Is Seen As Actual Aid To Trucking

By International News Service
NEW YORK—Expansion of air freight will offer no threat to the trucking industry in the postwar era, according to executives of Mack Trucks, Inc. On the contrary, they foresee an increase in truck needs, in direct proportion to the growth of air freight.

Airlines will get an expanded share of the high-value, light-weight merchandise, perishable commodities and an increase in mail volume, and there will be a close tie-up between the trucking industry and the airlines.

Vital Role For Trucks
The trucks will be needed to transport the air freight to and from the air terminals located miles outside the city limits.

These reactions were stated in a reply to Donald A. Duff, general traffic manager for Northeast Airlines, Inc. Mr. Duff requested Mack engineers to consider developing special truck models designed to handle cargo to and from air terminals. These vehicles would receive and deliver the cargo directly to the freight planes.

In his letter Mr. Duff declared that "air cargo transportation with improved and larger airplane designs in the postwar years, cannot succeed without the assistance of

Both the Mack and Northeast Airlines executives agree that the principal reason for the use of higher cost per pound air freight will be its speed, and the only time

Zivic Loses Fight To Jacob LaMotta

(By Associated Press) PITTSBURGH, June 11.—Fritz Zivic, ring-wise veteran of 169 fights, lost a split 10-round decision in his scrap with Joltin' Jacob LaMotta last night, but to a crowd of 11,087 he seldom had won more convincingly.

The verdict—first against Zivic in a home ring in nearly four years—precipitated one of the wildest fight scenes seen at Forbes field in a long time. Newspapers and programs were showered into the ring and the fans let go with a deafening chorus of boos that lasted fully 20 minutes.

Even the slugging LaMotta's face was wreathed in astonishment and a fight announcer hurriedly made a re-check to determine whether some mistake had not been made. But the verdict held—the judges splitting their votes and Referee Al Graybar casting the third and deciding ballot.

The former welterweight champion, spotting LaMotta four pounds in addition to nine years in age, staged a masterful battle, but blood streaming from the Italian's face, and from the fourth on it appeared to many ringers that the only way he could lose was by a knock-out.

The Associated Press score card gave LaMotta only three rounds—the first, seventh and 10th. There were no knockdowns.

The crowd paid a gross of $41,225.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, June 11.—Saying it with figures... Up to a week ago today, American league baseball clubs had played 29 extra-innings games and had 57 contests decided by one run... A year ago on the same date there had been nine extra-innings games and 37 one-run affairs... Which shows you what happens when 154 guys, most of whom can hit, go into the arm of forces... It costs $11 to make a saliva test of a horse at the Detroit fair grounds, and with 567 races on the schedule, the season's bill will up to $6,336 to test each winner... Biggest trotting horse transaction in some time took place recently when C. H. Wilkinson of Logansport, Ind., paid E. Graney of Sparkhill, N. Y., $15,000 for Austin Hanover, a colt now held at 6-1 in the Hambletonian future books.

ACTION AUCTION
Mike Beloise, former featherweight champ who has been working in a Niagara Falls defense plant, decided recently to return to the ring... He started training at Sullivan's Tuesday and yesterday he demanded of Manager Eddie Walker: "Got anything lined up for me?"... "No," Mike obeyed and as the various matchmakers turned up to watch the workouts, Walker pointed him out and asked for bids... Beloise will fight at MacArthur stadium in Brooklyn next week.

CLEANING THE CUFF
The annual New York Giants' all stars grid game hasn't been called off officially, but no plans have been made for staging it, either... Longest major league batting streak 20 years ago was 25 straight games by Charley Grimm of Pittsburgh... Dain Clay, the outfielder the Phillies got in that trade with the Cards, once threw a ball from home plate in the Houston ball park over the right field wall 322 feet away. Bucky Harris will be happy if he can hit 'em that far... When Manager Al Well invited Lew Hanbury, the Washington lightweight, to come up for tonight's Armstrong-Angott fight, he got a wire in reply: "Mom and pop will take the train with Lew."

EX-CHAMPS TANGLE IN NEW YORK SHOW
BY SID FEDER
NEW YORK, June 11.—The laughable lightweight frolics came a bit closer to getting their kinks straightened out tonight when Henry Armstrong and Sammy Angott tangled in a ten-rounder in Madison Square Garden. There was a time in the past, you remember when the lightweight's knew where they were going. In fact, the two comeback kids who collide tonight were undisputed 135-pound bosses at one time. But because of recent antics the whole thing has become about as clear as doubletalk. You have New York recognizing Bobcat Bob Montgomery since he took all the bounce out of bouncing Beau Jack, the National Boxing association "blessing" no one since Angott retired "permanently" for a couple of months—and patient old Gus G. Fan wondering when he gets off the merry-go-round. But with Henry the Hammer and Swarthy Sammy setting off their firecrackers tonight, you'll finally be able to get some of the mushrooms cleared away so you can at least see the steak underneath. For, whichever of the ex-champs doesn't have to be carried out when the shooting is over some time after 10 p. m. (EWT) probably will get a shot at Bobcat Bob in one of the local ball parks this summer. They'll toss their shots tonight for an expected crowd of 15,000 and a gate of $75,000 or so. From this corner, it looks like swingin' Sammy will wind up on top in a close tussle.

INDIANS DISCOVER ALL TEAMS TOUGH

Last-place St. Louis Browns Again Beat Tribe At Cleveland

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 11.—The Cleveland Indians are discovering that even a cellar-team is a tough customer in the war-time American league pennant chase.

The last-place St. Louis Browns edged the Tribe 2 to 1 at the Lakefront stadium last night for their second victory in as many games.

An old nemesis, knuckle-baller Johnny Niggeling, received credit for the win although he wasn't in there at the finish. Niggeling, who decided the Redskins five times last year, hurled three-hit ball for the first seven stanzas but left the mound in the eighth after consecutive singles by Buddy Rosar and Ken Keltner.

Fritz Ostermuller retired Jeff Heath on a grounder for the second out. George Caster then came in and walked Manager Lou Boudreau to load the baselines but pinch-hitter Chubby Dean grounded out to end the threat.

The Browns picked up their first tally in the opening inning when Don Gutteridge led off with a double and scored on Mike Kreevich's single.

Al Smith allowed St. Louis another marker in the third when Kreevich, Chet Laubs and Vern Stephens hit safely.

The Indians' lone run in the fourth was unearned. Harland Clift booted Buddy Rosar's grounder, Ray Cullenbine walked and Boudreau produced a single.

The two clubs are idle today but resume the series at the stadium tomorrow. Jack Salveson will hurl against either Al Hollingsworth or Denny Galehouse.

PALO ALTO, Cal.—"Bushido," the Japanese code of military chivalry, which venerated the murder of American aviators who bombed Tokyo, is merely a cover-up for a racial inferiority complex, according to Dr. Frederico Spiegelsberg, authority on Japanese culture. By creating the impression of generosity and consideration towards those who fall into their hands, like the American aviators, the Japanese are able to picture themselves as being big of heart if not of stature, he states.

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Diogenes, in search of an honest man, would only have to take the first San Diego citizen he might happen to meet, according to the San Diego Gas & Electric Co. Owing to a war shortage of meter readers, the company authorized its patrons to read their own meters and bill themselves accordingly. The plan has worked so successfully that the company is extending the system to additional zones.

DEEP SOUTH IN DEEP CONFUSION OVER INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL PROGRAM

(By Associated Press)
ATLANTA, June 11.—The deep south gives you: Cotton, corn and complete confusion.

The confusion, in this case, beclouds intercollegiate athletics and there's been nothing like it since the time the tornado hit Aunt Mandy's chickens.

This is the country that produces bowl teams in football—challengers like Alabama, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Tennessee and Mississippi State. Out of its 12-team South-eastern conference come also the toughest like Louisiana State, Auburn, Tulane and Vanderbilt, who annually knock the pegs from under intercollegiate rivals.

This year there are no bowl candidates. Indeed, there may be scarcely any football teams. Four conference teams already have suspended varsity football operations for the duration and the fate of some others may be decided here June 26 at a special meeting of the conference executive committee.

Mississippi Follows
Florida suspended all competition for the duration last March. Mississippi and Mississippi State were added to the list 10 days ago, and last week Vanderbilt suspended varsity football because of lack of material and the Army's ban on competition for trainees.

Georgia, the 1943 Rose Bowl champion, has not a man left from the great team which Frankie Sinkwich led to fame.

Able To Play
"We shall be able to play football," said Dr. Brittain. "We expect 300 freshmen to matriculate next term. If army cadets are not available, I think it advisable to continue football, using freshmen under 18 years of age."

Two notes of confidence were struck by Dr. M. L. Brittain, septuagenarian president of Georgia Tech, and Tulane's president, Rufus C. Harris, head of the Southeastern conference.

Penney's
"We expect to play amateur football," Harris said. "If ever there was validity to the assertion that the game builds men physically, it should be proved now. Some of the cry-baby coaches who care primarily for their records as winners are chiefly the ones who want to quit in this period. Those who are interested in the good the game does for boys feel differently."

"It seems probable to me that army cadets will be permitted to play if they want to do so, on the same restrictions that the navy imposes. In my opinion, the general outlook is all right. I like it. It will compel a return to football for sanity. Maybe that is too much to hope for, but I will hope for it anyway."

Auburn and Louisiana State, like Alabama and Georgia, are non-committal.

The territorial flower of Alaska is the forget-me-not.

NCAA Track Meet Opens At Evanston

(By Associated Press)
EVANSTON, Ill., June 11.—A glance-back at the best feats this season of the athletes competing in the national collegiate track and field championships today and tomorrow indicates that only a record in the two-mile event is a possibility.

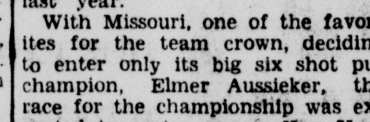

Ollie Hunter, Notre Dame's greatest distance runner since Greg Rice, was clocked at nine minutes flat in two miles early this season. Although this was accomplished in doors, it is likely that Hunter, under favorable conditions tomorrow, may eclipse the national collegiate standard of 9:02.6 set by Rice in 1939.

Hunter appears the best bet for a record, although seven other competitors have turned in marks this season which are better than those which won championships last year.

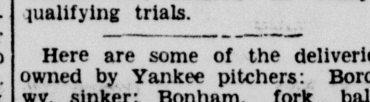

With Missouri, one of the favorites for the team crown, deciding to enter only its big six shot put champion, Elmer Auckler, the race for the championship was expected to center among New York university, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, California, Oklahoma Aggies, and Rice. Athletes from 40 schools were entered in today's qualifying trials.

Here are some of the deliveries owned by Yankee pitchers: Borowy, sinker; Bonham, fork ball; Chandler, slider; Wensloff, knuckler, and Donald, screwball.

THAT MAN IS MINE by May Christie

SYNOPSIS
Ann Foster, salesgirl at "Mark's Park Avenue" in New York City, is transferred to the Miami Beach branch of that store, where the manager, impressed with her unusual beauty, engages her as a model. Julia, her practical-minded sister, an airline stewardess on the New York-Miami run, persistently encourages her to marry millionaire Vince Ogden, but Ann does not love him. At Mrs. Avery Willard's War Relief Tea, Ann meets Jim Brent, handsome pilot officer, engaged in training cadets at a nearby airfield. From Vince she learns that Jim is teaching Lotus Willard to fly her own plane and the consensus is he will supplant Hank Bruger, society hanger-on, in the frivolous Mrs. Willard's life. Piloted by Vince and Hank, Ann sells lottery tickets on a beautiful gown donated by her store. Later, dancing with Jim, she is aware they are mutually attracted but senses a certain aloofness in him. Vince wins the gown and presents it to Ann who, overhearing a disappointed dowager's catty remark, announces she will react to the gown for the War Relief. Vince outbids everyone — this time giving the gown to Julia. The tea over, he invites the crowd to dine aboard his yacht, "The Pelican." Ann declines, pleading a headache. Alone in her apartment after Julia's departure, she regrets her hasty decision, especially since learning Jim has accepted Vince's invitation. At Julia's behest, Jim calls and persuades Ann to join the party which, following the dinner, had progressed to "The Bellevue" for dancing. Arriving there, they learn the others have gone on to "The Raton," a fashionable gambling club.

CHAPTER NINE
They went into the bar. "Make it an old-fashioned, please," she said from her stool at the counter. "Two," Jim told the bartender. They sipped their old-fashioned. Having had practically no dinner, the drink was doubly potent for Ann. It added to the floaty feeling she had experienced on the dance floor in the Merry Widow Waltz. "You like cocktails?" he asked. "Yes. Why not? They put a little into life," she said. "Which is the main thing, naturally," he teased. She pouted prettily. "Carping again?" "No. I was merely thinking that social functions would probably hang heavy without them." "Hat the earmarks of a crack! I hang heavy, Mr. Brent?" "Light as the proverbial feather," he assured. "In body or in mind?" she challenged. He laughed, looking at her with measuring eyes. "I meant you were light in body, of course. As for the mind, does a girl as pretty as you have to worry about that?" "How archaic you sound!" "I'm doing my best. I'm sure that Vince or Hank Bruger could do better. They're both great cavaliers of yours—aren't that so?" "No. But in my business, I have to have escorts," she told him rather tartly. "That must be the least of your troubles. I should think the difficulty is in holding them off," he remarked.

She was dashed by the turn the conversation was taking. Nettled, as well. She found herself saying, flippantly: "Oh, I take it all in my stride. That's part of the very exciting life you suggested that I led, this afternoon. Which reminds me, isn't Mrs. Willard quite a friend of yours—as well as your flying pupil?" Ann wondered if her question had brought trouble. That look of being criticized in Jim's gray eyes? Did he think her question ill-bred? She flushed during the long pause. He broke it by replying: "Mrs. Avery Willard has an aptitude for flying, among her other talents." There was a pause. Ann broke it by saying: "Do you know, you're not very easy to talk to, Mr. Brent?" "Sorry. I'm alone a good deal—" "In the clouds? You leave your sentences, too, hanging in mid-air!" "Sorry again. I'll try to do better. Truth is," she smiled at her, quivering his left eyebrow rather ruefully, "I'm not really used to polished persiflage with pretty ladies. Perhaps you'd educate me?" She laughed. "It would be fun to be friends," she dared.

Ann was fascinated, watching the play.

"My gain," he said. "If you'll allow me within the charming circle, I promise you I will try to improve."

There was a hint of seriousness behind his banter. Again her heart lifted.

The music of a tango started. She rose, leaving her glass only half-drained. She hummed the lilting tune. "Let's not miss a note of it, Mr. Brent. I love the tango!" He paid the bill, and took her by the arm. "Let's drop the Mr. Brent. If we're going to be friends, I'm Jim to you," he told her.

"And you may call me Ann."

They danced the tango beautifully together, moving in perfect rhythm.

"Lovely," he whispered, looking down at her, the pressure of his hand tightening — a warm and shiny look in his gray eyes.

Not another word was said throughout the dance. Ann was caught up in enchantment.

So on to The Raton thereafter. The ride was all too brief, for Ann. Vince pounced on them at their entry, braying: "Hateful child! Where are the orchids I gave you? Why didn't you come to my dinner? And whence have you been dallying with Jim?"

"Oh, shush, Vince! You're a big boy now," Ann said. "Where's the rest of the gang?"

"Gambling or tanking. At the tables or in the bar." He flung an arm about her waist, pulling her away from Jim. "Lotus Willard's been looking for you, so scram, my bonny flyer!" he chuckled thickly. He led Ann off.

Hank headed for Vince and Ann. He looked peevish and pallid. He said: "My luck's been rotten, so far. Come and be my mascot, Ann, and I will give you half my winnings. Is it a bargain?" She laughed. She felt very gay now. The bond of friendship had been established between herself and Jim.

"Okay, Hank. I'm a greenhorn. I've never been in a gambling casino before. I'll watch you."

The crowd was dense about the roulette table. But Hank made a path for her, elbowing and shoving.

"Faites vos jeux!" cried the croupier, spinning the wheel.

Hank put a small chip on one of the numbers, at the last moment. The wheel came to a stop.

Hank fingered his tiny mustache. He bit his full underlip, and looked sulky.

Ann was fascinated, watching the play. The mob was so thick she couldn't see any of her party, nor Jim. He'd probably gone into the bar in search of Mrs. Willard, but now she no longer felt jealous. (To be continued)

Four In Republican Contest For Mayor

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 11.—Charles T. Smith, a pottery kiln hand and a newcomer in politics, entered the ring today to make the Republican mayoralty fight at the Aug. 10 primary election here, a four-cornered affair.

Smith, who has been active in the Grant Street Civic association, will oppose the incumbent, Mayor O. Earl Greenwalt, seeking a fifth term, Jack C. Mason, a railroad brakeman, and Harry Wilson, motor express company owner and city councilman.

A Democratic mayoralty contest also was assured when Arnold W. Devon, Columbiana county coroner, filed against Ross Dorff, a potter and city councilman.

Mrs. Grace Manning, a shoe clerk, who has been active in Democratic politics for several years, filed for the party's Third Ward councilmanic nomination.

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Chaplain Kenneth Stack of the Army's 11th Bombardment squadron, back from Guadalcanal, said the most surprising thing with the Japanese prisoners was the number who spoke excellent English. But the most distinguishing fact about them was the number who had degrees from California schools. He believed there was a higher rate of degrees among the Japanese than among the American enlisted men.

Army Buying Real Science; Records Guide Purchases

(By International News Service)
JERSEY CITY—The average American housewife may think she has a job buying clothes for her family and keeping them clean, but it's nothing compared with the job of the men entrusted with clothing and cleaning the Army.

The Jersey City Quartermaster's depot last year bought more than 34,000,000 pounds of soap of all kinds used in personal and utilitarian cleansing purposes. In ordering uniforms the Army buys in lots of 50,000 just for one group of incoming soldiers. And these are only the most ordinary of the problems.

Thousands of boxes of fly-paper, insecticide liquids and repellents, water-purifying tablets and water-testing chemicals are among the items on the quartermaster's list. It's easy for Mrs. Jones to get Johnny a new suit, she knows he wears size 10. But the quartermaster has to order 50 or 100 thousand complete winter and summer outfits for men he never saw. The army has it down to a science.

Through careful records the quartermaster's depot knows that approximately 65 to 70 per cent of the men can be given a good fit without time-wasting alterations. In buying new uniforms, they know that a certain percentage will take size 32, a smaller percentage 34, another percentage 32 long and some 32 short. The procurement office knows that men from the Southwest on the average are taller and thinner than their Northeastern comrades in arms. They know that men over 38 and under 20 tend to be shorter than men between those ages. The careful records of the men insure more haste, less waste and a smarter-appearing, more satisfied soldier.
